

A ceramic article with coating intended for use in contact with molten glass mass in producing glass articles, contains a thin basic coating from powder of nickel-chrome-aluminium-cobalt-yttrium composite on every surface of ceramic article, contacting with molten glass mass, and thinner coating from previously alloyed zirconium oxide stabilized with cerium-yttrium over the base coating. A method for making the ceramic article is also applied.