

The invention relates to the use of agonist of the tissue factor FVII or FVIIa or their combination for treating the pathologies associated with cell migration where the specific control of such cell migration or chemotaxis is advantageous for the therapy. The following pathologies may be treated with the agents stated above: atherosclerosis, cancer growth, metastasizing, and invasion, wounds and burns (wound healing and the regeneration of the vascular walls).