

The invention relates to topically applied aqueous solutions containing epinastine, optionally in the form of its racemate, its enantiomers or its pharmacologically suitable acid addition salts.