

The invention relates to soluble interleukin-20 receptor (IL-20), having two polypeptide subunits, IL-20RA and IL-20RB. In one variant one subunit is fused with immunoglobuline light chain constant region, and another one - with immunoglobuline heavy chain constant region. Light and heavy chains are bonded by disulphide bond.