

A wire support for heating, purposed for piling up, contains a steel wire rim mainly of a rectangular configuration, sides, placed along the axes, at least two wire posts and a wire connecting construction. In a preferable variant of making the wire support has only two wire posts, which lie in areas, perpendicular to the longitudinal axis, with each of the wire posts having two straight sections attached to the longitudinal side of the rim.