

The invention provides aplidine derivatives and synthetic methods. They are represented by the formula: where the different symbols have the meaning indicated in the description.

