

The proposed insert for the core of the magnetic circuit of a reactor is designed as a stack of electric steel strips that are joined by adhesive and a band.