

The invention provides an FSH preparation having a high degree of sialylation, and showing increased efficacy.