

The present invention relates to chimeric antibody that specifically binds human IL-6 with high affinity, pharmaceutical composition containing thereof, isolated nucleic acid molecule, expression vector, host cell, process for making thereof. The invention relates as well to use of pharmaceutical composition while producing therapeutic for treatment of immun disorders and cancerous diseases mediated by IL-6.