

The immobilizing splint based on the novel features of design provides for broadening functional possibilities facilitating the increasing quality of treating the injuries in distal metaepiphysis of radius and the radiocarpal joint.