

The invention relates to the production of veterinary medicines, to a solid dosage form for poultry (SDF) and to a process for the production thereof. SDF contains the stone-like capillary-porous granules, which are saturated with liquid preparation, coated with hydrophobic or protective coating, powdered and dried out.