

The invention relates to carrying tube for indicators for implementation of measurements in melts of metals or cryolite, in particular in melts of cast iron, steel or cooper, and is in fact that carrying pipe is made of mix of vegetable fiber material with starch and/or protein.