

The present invention relates to transgenic sugar beet plants which due to the expression of cp4/epsps enzyme activity tolerate treatment with about 4 to about 18 liters Roundup® per hectare. The plants can be characterized by this specific integration site. The invention further relates to seeds obtained from said plants and a method for producing said plants.