

A hand drier comprises a body with a channel in which an air electric heater, a fan, a relay switch start are arranged. The channel of the body has a closed shape and is connected with a spout for hands.