

The present invention provides methods for the treatment, and pharmaceuticals for the use in the treatment, of mammalian subjects having, or at risk of developing, chronic demyelinating neuropathies, e.g., CIDP. The methods involve the administration of IFN- β therapeutics.