

An AC electric motor includes a magnetic conductor with a back of fixed length made from ferromagnetic powder and a toothed area. The compound magnetic conductor is made of pressed plates set made of ferromagnetic powder of toroidal plates of preset thickness, on inner side of which it is formed teeth as a single whole with the back.