

A composition material contains polyamide, mixture of basalt and carbon fibers and polyurethane. Such composition can be used in making pieces of antifriction purpose in mechanical engineering, motorcar construction and chemical industry.