

The invention relates to the expressing vector, containing core promoter of gene, where the expressing vector does not contain any full gene, and the promoter of gene is in-line associated with DNA sequence, coding polypeptide. The application of present vector for expression of essential gene or for selection of clones, expressing high amounts of essential gene. The host cell, transfected by present vector. The application of vector and host cell, transfected by present vector for production of drug.