

The invention relates to the use of fungicidal carboxamides for treating seeds, to corresponding protectants containing said carboxamides, to a method for controlling phytopathogenic fungi by treating the seed with fungicidal carboxamides and to seed that has been treated with the fungicidal carboxamides.

