

The invention relates to arms, in particular to cases for carrying short-barrel arms, for instance pistols. A case for pistol has pocket made of rigid material one of walls of which has cut to depth of travel of pistol handle at its charging in case, pistol holder placed with possibility of displacement in the pocket. For reliable keeping pistol in case and reliable uncasing at pistol use the holder has a stopper of safety cramp of pistol trigger and stopper of pistol holder in pocket after its charging.