

A hydraulic actuator for rivers has a body in which hydro-wheel is installed, this has barrel and blades. The hydro-wheel is placed in vertical position relative to river bank with cylinder-like metal-concrete depression. The blades have at the ends balls installed on axle close to opposite metal-concrete bank. Such implementation increases efficiency the hydraulic actuator.