

The invention is related to a method of brewing beer comprising the steps of-fermenting wort in a batch fermenter (b), and-centrifuging the fermented wort, characterized in that said centrifuging step (c') is done by means of a disc stack centrifuge.