

This apparatus for treating plant tissues using a pulsed electric field is intended for the extraction of plant substances from tissues, in particular a juice. It comprises a means of compacting (3) the plant tissues and at least one treatment chamber (4) comprising means for generating a pulsed electric field in said chamber for treating the compacted tissues.