

The invention relates to the field of medicine and concerns the treatment of the various types of the cancer of the blood system, at that the treatment may include, for example, the introduction of the purine nucleoside phosphorylase (PNP) inhibitor, alkylating agents and/or the agent against CD20, as well as related compositions and sets.