

Provided are novel compositions for use to herbicide activity. Specifically, the present application provides for methods and compositions that modulate the expression of a plastid protein import system of a plant. Also provided are combinations of compositions and methods that enhance weed control.