

A packaging packet with an outer packet part (100) and an inner packet part (150). The inner packet part (150) is disposed within the outer packet part and is movable relative to the outer packet part between first and second positions concealing and allowing access to the inner packet part (150). The inner packet part (150) has a reinforcing member arranged to withstand deformation at corners of the inner packet part.