

The invention relates to a method and a device for producing granulates (1) which are obtained by combining the following method steps: the raw materials (2) and optionally additives (6) are intensively mixed by adding water (3) to form a mixture (4), the mixture (4) and optionally additives (6) are introduced into a granulator (11) and the mixture (4) is granulated by adding water (3) to form raw granulates (12), said raw granulates (12), water (3) and optionally additives (6) are introduced into a rolling drum (17) and the raw granulates (12) are rolled to form said granulates (1).