

Disclosed herein are methods of treating moderate to severe eosinophilic asthma in a patient comprising: 1) identifying a patient having moderate to severe eosinophilic asthma, wherein the patient's symptoms are inadequately controlled with a current asthma therapeutic and wherein the patient's blood eosinophil levels are equal to or greater than 400/uL.; and 2) administering to said patient a therapeutically effective dose of reslizumab.