

The invention provides compounds having the general formula (I) pharmaceutical compositions containing the compounds and a process for their preparation. The compounds act as aldosterone synthase inhibitors and are for use in the treatment or prevention of chronic kidney disease, congestive heart failure, hypertension, primary aldosteronism and Cushing syndrom.