

Lubricating oil for lubrication of compressors of refrigeration machines operating in low-temperature mode (from -40 to -70 °C), with oligomers of higher olefins included, mostly three- and tetramers of decene-I. The lubricating composition has high flash temperature and thermal stability at keeping low-temperature properties, and satisfies the requirements of cooling engineering.