

The locking device has a rod, a spring ring and a cap. One end of the rod has a thread, and the other – special ring groove, where the spring ring is inserted. The inside surface of the cap has the groove identical to the rod groove, the cap is placed to the rod and locked.