

The invention relates to the medicine, namely to the clinical oncology. The method for diagnosing the malignant tumors being proposed is based on detecting specific protein complexes in the blood of patients. With this aim, the sample under study is overlaid consecutively with chelating solution, the standard blood serum, and the developing solution for the detection of the specific calcium-protein complexes. Finally, the complexes are assayed spectrophotometrically.