

A heat exchanging apparatus contains the tubes with the vortex generators made as the periodically disposed transverse smoothly rounded bulges at its internal surfaces, and the film low temperature electric heaters on the external tubes surfaces.