

The proposed device for focusing x-radiation contains a plate with through oval slot, which is arranged along the axis of symmetry of the plate, and a wedge-shaped radiation filter positioned over the said slot with the possibility of movement along the slot longitudinal axis.