

There is provided a process for the dehalogenation of a compound of formula (II) via the use of a transition metal catalyst and ammonium formate at atmospheric pressure.