

A multi-purpose machine for scattering one or several different types of mineral fertilizers, preparing mixtures thereof and simultaneous mixing and loading into storages contains a hopper, a perforated conveyor, which is placed on two shafts and covers bottom thereof, partitions, placed in the hopper and equipped with inclined dashboards, adjusting shutters, fixed above the conveyor, windows made in the bottom under the inclined dashboards, a transporting board, placed under the lower section of the conveyor, and a mixer. The mixer is made as a hollow body, the cross-section area of which reduces from top to bottom.