

This invention concerns a method and, a device for pairing or cabling two or more threads for the preparation of a paired or cabled thread just before and during the use of this paired thread in textile machines for knitted goods, hosiery and similar.