

Appliance for heating rubber parts of a car, mostly, brushes of car windscreen wipers and gaskets of door glasses includes at least one placed in the cavities of rubber details long heating element, to which electric current is supplied, and control devices, at that as a heating element flexible nichrome cable is used.