

Electric heater for water flow relates to heat engineering and has a tightened housing with inlet and outlet openings, those are connected to each other with a labyrinth channel for water, this is formed by a pair of plate electrodes as a spiral.