

This invention relates to heating equipment and can be used for heating premises. The gas convector includes heat exchanger, gas burners, spark-plug with spark electrode, safety element, thermo-sensor and unit for automated control of gas and hollow pipes attached to the front wall of the heat.