

A process for separation of a high-purity  $\alpha_2$ -antiplasmin from the human blood plasma including an affinity chromatography.  $\alpha_2$ -antiplasmin is obtained using a sequential chromatography for lysine -, K 1-3 (I form)sepharose and K 1-3 (II form) sepharose.