

Method for purification of the exhaust gas of combustion engine includes preparation of the catalysis, with the contact of the catalyst and the exhaust gas. The dust, which produced during the abrasion treatment of the copper and/or copper alloys articles, is used as catalyst.