

A method for the treatment of pain is disclosed comprising administration of a pain-ameliorating effective amount of any compound according to structural diagram (I), wherein: A, D and R<sup>1</sup> are as defined in the specification. Also disclosed are pharmaceutical compositions comprising a pain-ameliorating effective amount of a compound in accord with structural diagram (I).

