

A method for utilization of halogen containing toxic chemical substances comprises plasma chemical destruction thereof using a plasma containing vapors of alkaline or alkaline-earth metals. While utilizing in MHD-generator electric energy with a high coefficient of efficiency is produced.