

The method for preparing aglobulin serum from the blood of the cattle provides for centrifuging the blood taken from the clinically healthy animals. Upon separation of gamma globulin fraction and centrifugation Enrobioflox or Enroxil is added at a 1:20000 dilution followed by filtration employing the fibers providing for 100 kD threshold level.