

A tool of device for manufacture of developments of complex configuration along the perimeter contains fixed plate, which has a configuration of a development, the cutting knives mounted on the shaft. Immovable plate at the ends of working profile is equipped with spring-loaded cutting plates for creating the pressing to the cutting edges of moving knives. This embodiment of the invention ensures high quality of cutting the outline of developments and allows to simplify the adjustment of the device.