

An antislid device of a supporting stick includes an attachment fitting thereof to the stick with flutes wherein the ends of a flexible bracket are placed. On the flexible bracket a cramp-iron with spikes and clamps is made. The flutes of the attachment fitting have coaxial grooves, placed in the same plane as the axis of the stick. The flexible bracket and the cramp-iron are made in such a manner as to allow embracing the stick in upper position thereof.