

A method for mounting (dismounting) bridge cranes on to crane tracks on industrial site with the help of self-propelled switch laying crane includes the installation of bridge crane on the additional crane track, which is coaxially butted with the crane tracks of industrial structure. Crane is transferred inside the industrial structure through the end mounting opening.