

Substance containing anionic surfactants and water, which additionally contains carbamide, and as surfactants - triethanol amine salt of alkyl benzene sulfonic acid and powdered soap. Invention relates to the field of auxiliary agents used for averting the adhesion of semi-finished products from the rubber compounds during their production and storage at the enterprises of production of vehicle tires and rubber articles.