

The proposed self-contained device for warning the driver of a vehicle about approaching a dangerous object contains a receiver for signals of the Global Positioning System (GPS), a signal converter, a memory unit, filters, a comparator, a light indicator, a sound indicator, and a power-supply source.